A new trial is asked for on the grounds of alleged errors of law occurring at the recent trial and duly excepted by the defendant; that the verdict was contrary to law and evidence, and the further claim is made that new evidence, material to the defense, which could not be produced at the trial, has been discovered.

OLD MAN WHO LOST HIS MONEY

CLAIMS HE WAS ROBBED BY TWO STRANGERS.

Another Old Man, 78 Years of Age, Brought to Court Charged With Mendicancy.

The police court was crowded with a variety of offenders charged with robbery, drunkenness, vagrancy, lewd conduct, disturbing the peace, and mendicancy. The ages of the offenders ranged from 17 to near four-score. A number of stiff sentences were imposed, while with some the court was inclined to be lenient, especially those of advanced years.

John Brenner and F. A. Moore were charged with vagrancy, to which each pleaded not guilty. Officers Hadlock and Chambers testified that the men had been seen in the toilet room of the Union Station with an old man who was under the influence of liquor and who afterward asserted to the officers that the men had robbed him of $10 or more. The men had been arrested near the station while engaged in emptying a bottle of beer.

The defendants testified that they had been asked by the old man to buy a bottle of whiskey and that he had given them a dollar with which to get it. They had gone up town, but were unable to secure the liquor and still had the old man's money in their possession, which they intended to return to him. The court stated that the charge of vagrancy had not been proved, and although he considered the defendants at fault in being mixed up with a drunken individual whom anyone might have robbed, he would order them both discharged.

Adolph Weber pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was given the customary fine of $5 or five days.

George Hogarty, Dan McCarty and Thomas Canning were charged with vagrancy. They pleaded guilty in each case and arresting officers testified that they had been ordered out of town, but that they had refused to comply with the instructions. The court then sentenced them to the light punishment of five days each in consideration of their apparent youth.

G. W. Carroll, a tottering old man of 78 years, was charged with mendicancy. With quivering chin, the aged defendant admitted his guilt, and the arresting officer, Crompton, was asked regarding the matter. He stated that the old man had recently been ordered out of Cheyenne, from which point he had gone to Salt Lake, and a day later had arrived in Ogden.

The officer stated that Carroll had been found on the Bench where he had made himself obnoxious by entering houses, expectorating on the floor and otherwise "making himself at home."

When searched at the station, a $10 gold piece was found in one of his shoes and other sums amounting to the gold piece was found in one of his pockets. The court stated that he did not like to sentence the old man and that the money he possessed would take him on his way. Carroll was then discharged.

Alonso Haddy, charged with leaving his team untied on the street, pleaded guilty and received the usual fine of $5 or five days.

"John Doe" forfeited a like amount for a similar offense, by not appearing in answer to the call.

Alma Jones, charged with disturbing the peace, did not appear and his absence was ordered investigated.

Willis Pearsal, colored, and "John Doe" Bergman, were arraigned separately on charges of disturbing the peace by fighting. Each pleaded guilty and were given fines of $5 or five days.

SHE ADMITS
HER GUILT
BUT

SAYS SHE HAD A RIGHT TO BE GAY.

Case of Blunted Conscience in Which a Wife, Her Husband and Her Paramour Confess.

A Jew-conduct case attracted considerable attention in police court today owing to the extensive acquaintance of one of the defendants and the unexpected appearance of a real live husband in the case. Henry Hodges and Mamie Woodson, both colored, were the names given by the defendants, and it was charged that they had been found in a room over the Turf saloon. Hodges is a well-known dispenser of liquid refreshments in a local institution and made no effort to deny the allegations against him.

The complaining witness, J. H. Wilson, colored, who notified the arresting officers of the location of the couple, was called to the stand and created a mild sensation by asserting that the woman was his wife, but he refused to testify further in the matter. The ducky article, her tall figure, faultlessly arrayed in glad raiment, admitted her guilt, incidentally mentioning the fact that she had paid her fines regularly to the municipality and presumed that she had a right to comfort herself in her own way.

The court was somewhat taken aback at the cool admission of the husband and questioned him as well as the two defendants closely regarding the affair.

The frankness of the latter in admitting their offense left no alternative, apparently, than to impose a severe fine, which was done, the amount being $50 in each case.

SPENT A FORTUNE TO SAVE HER HUSBAND'S LIFE.

Fined $20 for Sending First-Class Matter Through the Mails Under Newspaper Postage.

Belle Fisher, alias Minnie Myers, alias Mary Black, accused of being a procurer and who was held for several days awaiting examination by the postal authorities, has been released upon payment of a $20 fine. Inspector Hull found her guilty of sending first-class matter through the mails under newspaper postage. The penalty for this offense is $10 and her bonds were filed against the defendant.

The charges of procuring came from an Idaho source and were not pushed by the police owing to lack of proof. It develops, however, that the woman is none other than the notorious Belle Fisher, who spent a fortune in defending her husband in Kemmerer, Wyoming, some years ago on a charge of murder. Her wealth and lavish expenditure of the same secured for the accused man a reduction of sentence from life imprisonment to seven years in the penitentiary.

It is stated that she is known as the "Belle London" of St. Anthony, Idaho, and is also heavily interested in the places. She is noted for her fondness for diamonds and her cell at the city jail was found to have a fortune in sparklers secreted upon her person.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY BOARD

IN MEMORY OF THE LATE JOSEPH STANFORD.

County Commissioners Praise the Public Service of the Deceased in an Official Document.

The commissioners of Weber county met in regular session this morning and a full board was present. During the meeting, the following resolutions were adopted:

Be It Resolved that, in the death of Honorable Joseph Stanford, the county loses an honest, trustworthy and efficient servant, one whose loyalty and faithfulness have been marked characteristics of a long and useful life.

Resolved, that the Board of County Commissioners in regular session assembled, herewith express our regrets at the loss of such a public servant and our respect and esteem for his memory.

Resolved, that in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Y. Stanford, wife of the Honorable Joseph Stanford, who has so shortly followed her husband to the Great Beyond, the county loses a woman of the greatest worth, one whose life has long been a guiding star to those who seek a noble and righteous example.

Resolved, that in expressing our grief at their departure and the loss the community sustains, our sorrow is partly assuaged by the fact that they have been permitted by a kind Providence to take their departure together.

They have been devoted to each other through life, as in life they were joined together by every tie of love and affection, so in death they have not been separated.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of the board, and that a copy thereof be forwarded to each of their children.

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER
LITTLE DOROTHY READ

The funeral services over the remains of Dorothy, three-months-old twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Read, were held at the residence, No. 753 Twenty-sixth street, at 1 p. m., Sunday, February 14th, Bishop H. C. Jacobs presiding.

Appropriate remarks were made by Elder Geo. Hunter, Bishop Jacobs and Patriarch Geo. W. Larkin. Benediction was pronounced by Elder Luman Shurtliff.

Mrs. W. S. Jones and Miss Tillie Hancock rendered two duets, "O Morning Land," and "The Christian's Gaze." Mrs. L. M. Hancock also sang a solo, "Your Sweet Little Rosebud." The services were very impressive, and the floral tributes numerous and very beautiful.

Mr. L. D. Treseder read an original poem dedicated to the occasion, as follows:

In Memory
Out of God's starry bower
A gilded leaflet fell:
Twinkling down on a sunbeam,
Like music from a bell.

Nor hand nor foot disturbed it,
And frolicsome gusts of air,
Whirling the wayward atoms,
Danced on, and left it there.

Slowly away it wended,
Till only a film remained:
A skeleton leaf—a shadow—
Lost wholly when it rained.

Yet, Lo! on the stained footway,
Etched where the gold had lain;
A delicate shape—a spirit—
Tarry in wind and rain.

Loveliest of lovely things are they
On earth that soonest pass away:
The rose that lives its little hour,
Is prized beyond the sculptured flower.

WORD RECEIVED THAT HIS MOTHER IS DEAD.

Superintendent of Union Pacific Hurries on to the Coast to Attend the Funeral.

Superintendent W. A. Whitney, of the Utah division of the Union Pacific, returned to Ogden headquarters Sunday from a month's vacation at Arkansas Hot Springs, Denver and Omaha.

The "old man," as Mr. Whitney is called by his subordinates and friends in railroad circles, is looking better and feeling more vigorous than for a year and says his vacation was thoroughly enjoyed and that his health is greatly improved.

A telegram Sunday evening from Oakland announced the death of Mr. Whitney's mother, after an illness of several years. The venerable lady was 75 years of age and had been a sufferer from cancer of the stomach for two years. While her death was not unexpected, it came as a shock nevertheless, and Mr. E. and Mrs. Whitney left for California this morning to attend the funeral obsequies at Oakland. They will be absent a week.

A petition was also received asking for the division of the Warren road district, the southern part to be known as Reed district. The petition was referred to the road committee.

Several bids were also received for excavating needed cuts in the Weber river channel, by which water could be diverted and overflowing prevented during high water. These bids ran from $200 to $300, but none were accepted and the matter was deferred at that time.

BOARD CONSIDERS
COL. TUCKER'S
RETIREMENT

HE ASKS FOR HONORABLE DISCHARGE ON HALF PAY.

Sensational Charges of His Wife Will Be Heard in Connection With the Case.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The army retirement board, with General F. D. Grant presiding, met in the federal building today to consider the retirement of Col. W. F. Tucker. Col. Tucker has been in ill-health for over a year and asks a honorable discharge from the service on the usual half-pay. He arrived from Hot Springs, Ark., yesterday, and retired to his rooms at the Union League Club. His wife, Mrs. Mary Logan Tucker, whose allegations placed against her husband with the secretary of war, created a sensation in Washington and Chicago social circles and the army generally, will, it is expected, testify before the board.

Mrs. Tucker's mother, Mrs. John A. Logan, also will be a witness. Col. Tucker's nurse, Mrs. Myrtle B. Platt, is still at Hot Springs, and it is said there is no present intention of calling her.

Of the principals in the case, Col. Tucker was the only one to appear today. It was determined that the sessions of the board shall be secret, and an adjournment until tomorrow was taken. Meanwhile Col. Tucker was directed to undergo a physical examination. Col. Tucker, walking slowly but steadily and a deep pallor testifying to his long sickness, was surrounded

A POOL
ROOM

JAPANESE CHARGED WITH DISTURBING THE PEACE.

Young Man Claims the Proprietor of a Pool Room Struck Him—Camping Was the Cause.

T. Hogoshu, a Japanese proprietor of a pool room, at 165 Twenty-fifth street, was arraigned on the charge of disturbing the peace, the same having been changed from that of gambling. The defendant pleaded not guilty.

The complaining witness, a local boy of seventeen, testified that he had been playing "down and out" at 10 cents a game with the Jap and that some misunderstanding had arisen over the play. He stated that he had started to leave the place, after refusing to pay for the game, whereupon the Jap had pounced upon him, struck him to the floor and had bitten him in the hand, besides threatening his skull with a billiard cue.

The defendant was given an opportunity to explain, and did so, indignantly denying the accusations of the boy, and saying that he had thought the boy was under age and had ordered him from the place. The judge asked him about the biting stunt, which was also vigorously denied, the witness disclaiming all knowledge of canine proclivities. He said that the boy had come into his place many times but that he had always put him out on account of his age.

The court examined the witness and drew from him the statement that other boys had frequented the place named, where they had been in the habit of gambling for small amounts. This aroused the judicial suspicions to the extent of continuing the case until the names of the "other boys" could be learned and the matter gone into thoroughly.
